OSAGE LLC AND TERRAPRO INC. ANNOUNCE PARTNERSHIP

SHERWOOD PARK, AB, and SKIATOOK, OK – With an objective to create shared value through partnership, Osage LLC (“Osage”), Tribally-owned by the Osage Nation, and TerraPro Inc. (“TerraPro”) are proud to announce their partnership.

Osage is a Tribally-owned small business that provides turnkey construction and information technology services to government and commercial sectors. Based in Skiatook, Oklahoma, Osage distinguishes itself as a cost-effective and customer-focused service provider focused on economic opportunities with government and the oil and gas, aerospace, financial, and gaming industries.

“Our approach to economic development is engaging in opportunities that create meaningful and lasting differences for the Osage Nation and its people. The creation of jobs and training opportunities are germane to the long-term vision of economic sustainability for the Nation today and generations to come” said Hillary McIntosh, General Manager, Osage.

Driven by deeply rooted values and building trust with partners, TerraPro is committed to Indigenous inclusion. “We are focused on our partners, those whom we have built (or are building) trust and respect. We want to understand the needs and interests of our Indigenous community partners and our client partners, and from there, collaborate to create mutual success” stated Colin Schmidt, President and CEO, TerraPro.

“We are focused on the identification of long-term, strategic partnerships and this process led us to TerraPro. We have great respect for the dedication TerraPro has displayed in working with Indigenous communities and companies, and we believe this partnership will help Osage reach its prime directive of expanding the Osage Nation’s economic footprint” replied McIntosh.

TerraPro was established in 2006 as a family owned and operated business and today has grown to become a leader in the Canadian matting industry. “We are driven by our purpose to help people access meaningful and fulfilled lives and we are excited about the expansion of our business into the United States” said Schmidt. “This relationship signals an important and meaningful step for our team as we step forward with Osage in the market.”
